Vertical Selection of Davenport Pinot Noir | 2005 | 2006 | 2007

Nothing is more fun than comparing wine vintages from the same vineyard, made by the same wine maker. Tasters come away with a real appreciation for growing condition differences that contribute to a vintage's character as well as an understanding of a particular winemaker's style. Presenting a vertical tasting at a dinner party of Pinot lovers can provoke lively discussions about wine and cuisine and make wonderful memories. Available as half or whole cases only.

2007 Davenport Pinot Noir | 3 Clone, Preston Ranch, Russian River Valley

The 2007 was an explosion of red cherry fruit from the day it was harvested. Eleven months in Remond and Sirugue French oak barrels has tempered forward fruit with toasty oak. As the wine matures in bottle, complexities of spice abound. This is a round, rich, chewy Pinot. Available as part of a vertical selection only.

2006 Davenport Pinot Noir | Clone 115 @ 777, Preston Ranch, Russian River Valley

This pinot is beautifully colored and deliciously oaked, has a creamy texture that lingers on the tongue, and the bright, strawberry/cherry fruit of a cold climate Pinot. Aged 10 months in Remond and Sirugue barrels.

2005 Davenport Pinot Noir | Clone 115, Preston Ranch, Russian River Valley

The cool growing season of 2005 yielded a wine with great structure and finesse. The oak flavor subtly underplays the berry-cherry fruit, as the oak tannin complements the grape tannin to give the wine its backbone. Imminently ageable, the 2005 is at its peak in 2009 and should remain there into the next decade.
